

2020 Awardee

Outstanding Alumnus Award of College of Home Science

Dr. Geeta Chauhan

It is a matter of pride for the College of Home Science, G. B. Pant University of Agriculture and Technology, Pantnagar that Dr. Geeta Chauhan, an alumnus of the college is a Principal Scientist and Incharge, Dairy Technology Section at the ICAR-Indian Veterinary Research Institute, Izatnagar, Bareilly (UP). She has reached this position due to her never say die attitude towards life. She has worked tirelessly to reach this position. She is a sincere and devoted researcher and teacher and handled many projects as Principal Investigator and Co-Principal Investigator, including institute funded and externally funded as well. She is managing the Dairy Technology Section, which is generating a revenue of more than two crores annually through processing and sale of milk and milk products. She is constantly involved in research bringing out many outstanding research publications in reputed Journals to her credit. So far, she has guided 17 students (6 Ph.D. and 11 M.V.Sc.) for their thesis research work. She has shown her excellent dedication and contributed significantly to her professional field. The matter that gives the biggest pride however, are her two patents granted. It should be noted that she has stayed true to her basic qualification in Home Science and Foods and Nutrition, as her patents are on Food items. She is an inspiration to the present and past students of the college and all Home Scientists.